Narrated by Anthony Heald

Well, at least Heald will pronounce all those nautical words for you, even if this reading is rather over-enunciated.

The Four Feathers

A. E. W. Mason

Narrated by Ralph Cosham

Blackstone

978-1-4332-5957-9

Maybe you can draw Heath Ledger fans to the original, a 1902 classic of intrigue and action that asks big questions like, What is courage? What is cowardice? What is loyalty? Nicely twisted premise of "counting coup."

The Women

T.C. Boyle

Narrated by Grover Gardner

Blackstone

15 CDs

978-1-4332-6061-2

Read all about the goings-ons at Taliesin. Good old-fashioned artistic bad behavior.

The New York Times says: The Women adds a powerful new chapter to this continuing narrative, and it is Boyle at his best. It is a mesmerizing story of women who invest everything, at great risk, in that mysterious “bank of feeling” named Frank Lloyd Wright.

The Mystic Arts of Erasing All Signs of Death

Charlie Huston

Narrated by Michael Garcia

The Washington Post's Patrick Anderson says, Charlie Huston has for several years been one of the best-kept secrets in American fiction; this novel might move him into the mainstream. If you believe that the world is mad—a position that with each passing day becomes easier to accept—The Mystic Arts of Erasing All Signs of Death will provide welcome support for your view. The novel had me laughing out loud many times, but of course, like all the best comic fiction (Catch-22 and Portnoy's Complaint come to mind), at bottom it is deadly serious. Life is violent, messy and all too short, and laughter is the best revenge.

Nice nasal American accent from the narrator.
